Congressional candidate levels vote fraud charge

By Bonita Gower-Tillman
and Jack C. Ventimiglia
Staff writers

EAST ST. LOUIS — Congressional candidate Pete Fields said Jan. 5 he wants a federal investigation into 1986 primary election vote fraud, but the indication is he won't get it.

Fields alleged addresses of at least 200 vacant buildings and lots in East St. Louis were used to register voters, and votes were cast under fake names.

U.S. Attorney Frederick J. Hess said Wednesday he was reviewing the matter, but declined comment until after 10 a.m. today.

A high-placed source at the U.S. attorney's office said it appears the allegations should be handled by the state, not the U.S. attorney.

"I have documented evidence of vote fraud," Fields said. "This fraud is a displayed burden on East St. Louis and the county residents. The 51,000 residents should not be blamed. They are the victims of it. They need help and I'm joining in the struggle today."

He showed slides and photographs of several houses and gave the information to Hess after the press conference.

NAAEP President Johnny Scott accompanied Fields to Hess' office. Scott commended Fields for not writing off East St. Louis.

"I am very proud and appreciative. You have displayed some energy in discovering the ills that plague East St. Louis,"

Pete Fields
Alleges vote fraud

Scott told Fields.

Fields said he gave information to Hess two years ago about alleged fraud in the 1986 primary election. Hess, Fields said, passed the information to State's Attorney John Baricovic.

Baricovic said he was not aware of information coming to him from Fields. He said he has been involved in investigations of East St. Louis vote fraud, but never talked with Fields about it.

"The federal government has transferred information to me but not one thing said it was from Pete Fields," he said. "Sure we have investigated vote fraud in that election, but without specifics I could not respond to his comments."

Fields also said he had heard that St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello had given $2,000 to each precinct committeemen in East St. Louis for the March 15 primary. Terry Beach, Costello's administrative assistant, called the accusation "nonsense."

"If anyone has ever given money to them it was Mr. Fields by his own admission," Beach said. "He gave $15,000 to the (re-election of Mayor Carl) Officer campaign last year ... If (Fields) is aware of some wrongdoing, he should report it to the proper authorities."

Fields said the "handful" of residents who asked him to look into the matter were the reason he re-initiated the investigation.

He alleged about $10,000 was poured into East St. Louis elections "from outside the city to finance the fraud."

About $30,000 is a fair election campaign budget in East St. Louis, Fields said.

If elected, Fields said he would initiate a Justice Department investigation to track "dirty money" in East St. Louis. Fields, Glen Carbon, Madison County auditor, is competing in the March 15 Democratic Party primary for the 21st Congressional District seat against St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, Belleville; Steve Marandis, Madison, an administrative law judge with the Illinois Department of Revenue; and Mike Mansfield, Belleville, chief aide to the retiring district representative, Mel Price, 83.

Neither rain nor snow

NOR ARCTIC AIR MASS keeps Granite City letter carrier Lisa Mena from completing her mail route along the 3000 block of Marshall Avenue on Wednesday. Single-digit temperatures were the rule for the day, except for the high mark of 10 degrees, as a large arctic air mass enveloped most of the country for the third consecutive day.

Plea bargaining results in lesser murder charge

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Two first-degree murder charges against a man who had pleaded guilty to stabbing a Madison grocer to death July 8 were reduced Tuesday at the request of State's Attorney Dick Allen's office.

Ricardo J. Long, 27, East St. Louis, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder. His victim was Khaled Sawalhi, 47, who owned Charlie's Market, 1647 Market St.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Rybak said Long may have stabbed Sawalhi after being struck by Sawalhi with a "boda bottle." Long is the only living witness.

The knife, Rybak said, was first believed to be Long's but new information indicates it may have been Sawalhi's.

Rybak said the reduced charge was agreed to by Madison Police.

"We were willing to go along with their recommendation," Madison Police Chief Charlie Bridick said Wednesday.

Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. ordered Long held without bond until a presentencing investigation is completed. Long could receive up to 15 years in prison.

Rybak said he knows of two felony convictions against Long.

Nameoki boundaries will be decided by electors

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — A new co-terminous township annexation law will be tested for the first time in Nameoki Township.

The Town Board on Monday unanimously approved a resolution calling for a referendum on the March 15 ballot asking Nameoki electors if they want the township's boundaries changed because of the recent annexation by Granite City of 33 homes in Gorbie Subdivision.

Under the new law, signed by Gov. Jim Thompson in 1986, Nameoki officials can demand a referendum of all township electors if they disagree with the city's annexation.

If a change in boundaries is approved by referendum, the boundaries of Granite City and Nameoki City Township will expand and Nameoki's size will be reduced. If a change isn't approved, the city's boundaries will expand, but Granite City Township's boundary won't.

Trustee Norma Hall said Tuesday he confident the electors will vote to keep the land in Nameoki. He said he couldn't believe that people in the township would want to lose part of their tax base.

Because the law is new, Granite City Attorney Mark Goldenberg said, city officials will study its provisions to see what options they have.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said he questions allowing the entire township to vote on the issue.

"The people affected should have the right to say," Cruse said.

If the annexed property is part of both the City of Granite City and Nameoki Township, Cruse said, there could be some confusion as to which entity would provide services to taxpayers, such as street maintenance, trash collection, and fire and police protection.

Nameoki Clerk Lee Ridgeway is expected to take the resolution to County Clerk Evelyn Bowles this week. Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said Bowles will examine the resolution and determine if the referendum will be on the ballot, Briggs said.

Salvation Army drive almost reaches goal

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The local chapter of the Salvation Army is less than $3,000 short of its goal and hopes to reach it by Saturday.

"It's still coming in and by the end of the week we could reach our goal," Capt. Curtis Hartley said. The Christmas fund drive is the Salvation Army's Tree of Lights appeal.

The Christmas fund to provide holiday assistance and other help to area residents stood at slightly over the $68,000 mark on Monday. The goal is $72,000.

"The Christmas fund drive came through when it appeared some of the lights on the symbolic tree would not be turned on," Hartley said.

"Things are looking pretty good right now and we appreciate what the newspaper did to help," he said Tuesday.

Campaign Chairman Avery Schermer appealed to residents last week, designating this as "Conscience Week."

He asked help from individuals who normally donate to the fund and may have overlooked sending a contribution.

A total of 1,283 families, representing about 5,132 individuals, sought holiday assistance through the Salvation Army this Christmas.

The entire amount of the Tree of Lights goal, and more, is

Shelter from cold available in area

By Valerie Evenden

GRANITE CITY — If anyone wants it, shelter from the cold will be available. Salvation Army Capt. Curtis Hartley said Tuesday.

"At this point we have not received any requests for shelter," he said.

"The real homeless people ... the street people ... tend to stay in the bigger cities. If we have any here, I think they've probably gone to St. Louis," Hartley said.

At the Salvation Army's Harbor House in St. Louis, about 140 people were sheltered Monday night.

More people were expected to seek shelter at Salvation Army facilities and other centers in the St. Louis and East St. Louis areas as the temperature dropped to two degrees Tuesday night and early Wednesday. Wind chill readings as low as 22 degrees below zero were reported.

needed to fulfill the Salvation Army's obligations, Schermer said last week.

Precinct contests hot

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In what some view as a citywide power struggle, 20 incumbents face challenges in 36 Democratic precinct committeeman races.

There are 23 contested races which will be decided in the March 15 primary.

The challenges represent a political battle between Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Farney said. Farney is opposed in the 8th Precinct by Kathie Williams, a Granite City township assessor employee. There is no incumbent in the race.

"A lot of it (the challenges) has to do with a power play. Mac's (Warfield) trying to hang on to what he's got and Cruse is trying to do him in," Farney said.

Warfield ran against Cruse in the 1985 mayoral election, a three-way race that included then-incumbent Mayor Paul Schulz. Warfield has been mentioned as a possible opponent of Cruse in the 1989 mayoral election.

Warfield is chairman of the Madison County Democratic Party Central Committee. He can maintain that position only if he wins in the 2nd Precinct, where he is being challenged by city worker Albert "Clendene"

Two tossed off March ballot

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Challenges to petitions filed in two precinct committeeman races resulted in both persons being thrown off the ballot by the county Electoral Board.

Out are Jerry Lakin, 2230 Edison Ave., in Precinct 3, and Danny Warfield, 2610 Madison Ave., in Precinct 28. Danny Warfield is the brother of Mac Warfield, Granite City street superintendent and chairman of the Madison County Democratic Party Central Committee.

The men said the challenges were motivated by a plan to hurt Mac Warfield and his political enemies, and the two said they will appeal by the deadline Friday.

APA considers closing shelter

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Puppies, kittens and other animals will continue to have a safe place to live, for now.

The Association for the Protection of Animals' shelter remains open while members consider options, including closing the facility at 5000 Old Alton Road.

Members on Monday discussed closing because of a lack of money and volunteers to continue the animal adoption service. Members will talk about the issue further in two weeks.

Member Linda Irwin suggested finding homes for remaining animals, accepting no animals and closing the shelter. The group would then try to reopen by raising funds, Irwin said.

"I think we have the responsibility to think with our heads and not our hearts," Irwin said. "I don't think we should go on in limbo."

An option is for the APA to operate in conjunction with the Granite City Humane Shelter on Missouri Avenue. However, members disagree with the shelter's policy of destroying animals, Irwin said. The APA doesn't destroy animals.

If the APA closes, abandoned animals will go to the city's humane shelter or Madison County Rabies Control, said Margaret Flisk, adoption supervisor. Animals are killed Thursdays at both places using the "high-altitude chamber method," she said.

Several animals are put in a cage, then moved into a chamber having an air removal machine that causes them to suffocate, APA member Connie Becerra Kerley said. Animals are unconscious in 30 seconds and without air for 30 minutes, she said.

Puppies and kittens are put in a smaller chamber because they are harder to kill, Kerley said.

Food, medicine, veterinary fees, utilities and other expenses cost up to $2,000 monthly, members said. Revenues from donations and adoption fees total between $700 and $1,300 monthly. The state-regulated shelter receives no state, county or city funding, Irwin said.

More than 600 animals have been placed in homes since the APA shelter opened in June 1984. Flisk said. Last month, 13 dogs and 11 cats were adopted, she said.

Animals are sometimes abandoned at the shelter, Flisk said. One cat has been at the shelter for three years and one dog has been there for a year, she said. The APA is allowed to keep 50 animals at the shelter, Flisk said.

The APA opened on Chouteau Island in 1971, Kerley said. From 1972 to 1977, it was at the St. Louis Support Center, formerly the Depot. After that, animals were kept in members' homes and adoptions were held on weekends until the Old Alton Road shelter opened in 1984.

Illinois high court rejects appeal by Davis, sets date for execution

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court has rejected another appeal by Garvie Davis, East St. Louis, who has been convicted of murders, in both Madison and St. Clair counties. The court set an execution date of March 15.

Davis' original St. Clair County conviction and death sentence in the 1978 murder of 69-year-old Charles Biebel of rural Belleville was upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1983.

On Dec. 21, the state high court rejected post-conviction petition arguments by Davis that the death sentence for the Biebel murder should be set aside, on the basis that he was more likely to receive the death penalty because he killed a white person rather than a black person.

A statistical study showed a black defendant in Illinois was four times as likely to get the death penalty if the victim was white. But the top Illinois court said the U.S. Supreme Court had rejected a similar constitutional argument raised in a Georgia case.

Davis was also convicted and sentenced to death in Madison County for the 1979 murder of Esther Sempmer, 44, of rural Glen Carbon. The state high court ordered a new sentencing in 1983 in that case on the grounds of improper statements by former Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber.

The Illinois Supreme Court issued another decision in that case in April 1986, rejecting a "double jeopardy" issue then raised by Davis.

Davis still has not been re-sentenced for the Sempmer murder. Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen could not be reached for comment as to why it has been pending since May 1986.

Although the Illinois Supreme Court set an execution date of March 15 for Davis on the Biebel murder, Davis can still pursue additional legal recourse to forestall execution, officials said.

Weber an interim prosecutor

Former Madison County State's Attorney Don W. Weber, who was elected to the office, couldn't find any other local person qualified to fill the job.

They also didn't want to fill it with one of the Republican candidates because of the unfair advantage that would have given him in the race," Weber said.

Weber, who was sworn in Jan. 4, said the 160-mile commute between Madison and Ford counties will be no problem. "I have told them I'll be spending a lot of time here once the election gets closer."

"I think this enhances my authenticity as a candidate. I'm going there to be a ceramics engineer or a jet pilot," Weber said.

Benefit dance scheduled for bone marrow patient

Plans are being made for the Lloyd Green Benefit Dance to be held Saturday, Jan. 16, at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Prizes will be given on the night of the dance, including dinner certificates from local restaurants, hair styles, tanning beds, a Mr. Coffee pot and a grill. All prizes and refreshments were donated by local merchants and companies.

Green will be undergoing a bone marrow transplant at the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle. The medical bill will amount to more than $400,000.

All proceeds of this fund-raiser will be donated to the Lloyd Green Trust Fund at the American Heritage Bank of Granite City.

Group against church's Johnson Road rezoning
GRANITE CITY — A church's request to have its property rezoned for commercial use is being opposed by a neighborhood group.

The Johnson Road General Baptist Church, 2029 Johnson Road, petitioned the Plan Commission on Dec. 10 to rezone part of its property from a residential zoning classification to a commercial classification.

The church wanted the commission to rezone a 75x150-foot piece of land on its property. The church's representative, Leroy Hale, told the commission the church wanted the land rezoned because, he said, the original zoning for the land was commercial when the church bought the property about 20 years ago.

The 2000 block of Johnson Road has been the focus of several controversial zoning decisions in recent months.

Teacher talks continuing
GRANITE CITY District 9's financial picture is being studied during negotiations between teachers and the School Board.

Teachers are in the second year of a two-year contract that con-

Negotiations have been extended past the December deadline by a mutual agreement between the teachers and the board. The extension was needed due to a delay in the start of negotiations.

Water company closes downtown business office

The Illinois-American Water Co. has closed its customer service office at 1800 Edison Ave.

The closing was effective Monday, Jan. 4, the same day as the announcement.

All service calls will now be handled through the company's new telephone hotline: 1-800-422-2785. The hotline service also is effective immediately.

Fields: Vote fraud in East St. Louis

GRANITE CITY — Voting fraud in East St. Louis was charged on Tuesday by Pete Fields, a 21st District congressional candidate.

Fields claims abandoned buildings are being used as addresses for supposed East St. Louis voters. He said he has linked vacant property with voter lists.

Fields said he plans to give evidence to Frederick Hess, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, for further investigation.

Two members of board oppose county petitions

GRANITE CITY — An objection filed Monday seeks invalidation of petitions that would let voters decide if they want a county executive form of government.

Madison County Board members Vasil Eftimoff, D-Granite City, and Homer Henke, R-Moto, filed the objection.

The two allege the petitions contain at least 327 signatures with incomplete addresses because no community is listed. In some cases, the abbreviation "GC" is used to indicate the city.

The two men allege more than half of the 622 signatures on the petition are invalid; 500 valid signatures are needed.

Home fuel aid deadline Jan. 28

Madison County is accepting energy applications for the low-income Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (IHEAP) for all interested households.

Due to a reduction in IHEAP funds this year, the county has established Jan. 28 as the last date applications will be taken. Nelson Hagnauer, County Board chairman, has announced 25 outreach sites that are taking applications, and their hours of operation. Persons wishing to apply should contact the nearest site in their area for an appointment, he said.

Those applying for home energy help must provide proof of income for all household members as of 30 days prior to the applications date, a copy of their primary and secondary energy bill (natural gas and electric) and Social Security numbers for all household members.

Persons completing an application for energy assistance are not guaranteed that funding will be available or that their household will receive assistance.

Applications for home energy assistance are processed on a first-come, first-served basis. Home energy assistance payments made to eligible households are approved on a one-time basis, Hagnauer said.

Income guidelines for this program are as follows:
Size of household, 1 person, $573, maximum 30-day income; 2 persons, $771; 3, $968.66; 4, $1,166.66; 5, $1,364.66; 6, $1,562.66; 7, $1,760.33; 8, $1,958.33.

Additionally, households that qualify for IHEAP and are customers of a regulated gas or electric utility (Illinois Power or Union Electric) may apply for the Illinois Residential Affordable Payment Program (IRAPP). This program provides protection from termination of regulated utility service in return for a household's combined payment of not less than 12 percent of its income to the primary and secondary utility.

Persons having general questions regarding the IHEAP program may contact the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance Office at 602-6300, ext. 518, or the State of Illinois Energy Hotline at 1-800-252-8643.

Intake sites for IHEAP applications, only by appointment include:

Chouteau Township, North Thorgate Drive, RR 3, Box 837 A, Granite City 62040, 931-1110, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Nameoki Township, 4250 Illinois 162, Granite City 62040, 931-1230, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday.

Venice Township, 1502 Fifth St., Madison 62060, 452-1121, 9 a.m. to noon, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Intake sites for emergency applications on a walk-in basis, and IHEAP applications by appointment only, are:

State high court OKs track fine

SPRINGFIELD — The owner of Fairmount Park racetrack near Collinsville must pay a $105,000 fine imposed by the Illinois Racing Board for submitting false bids, the Illinois Supreme Court held Dec. 21.

The Madison County Circuit Court and Fifth Appeals Court earlier blocked the penalty against Ogden-Fairmount Inc. It was imposed after Ogden-Fairmount had submitted applications to the Racing Board for approval of $2.1 million in construction projects between 1980 and 1984.

It reported three competitive bids for each project, but as Ogden-Fairmount admitted later, only one was legitimate in each case, from Hayden Construction Co. in Belleville.

The other two, high bids in each case, were "rigged" and obtained from contractors or companies that owner James R. Hayden or his friends controlled, the court said.

The Supreme Court reversed the lower court decisions, declaring Ogden-Fairmount "deliberately submitted false documents to the board, conduct which the board has the authority to penalize."

The lower courts had accepted Ogden-Fairmount's arguments that the Racing Board's resolution requiring three bids for track improvements was not legally valid and Hayden charged a fair price for the work, anyway.

The improvements were done with money collected in the Racetrack Improvement Fund, which accumulated for each track from half the "breakage" (odd cents on the dollar left from betting, which is paid off in multiples of 10).

The state high court also reversed the decisions of the lower courts that the Racing Board could not impose a 15-month suspension from participation in Illinois racing of James R. Hayden, who also owns thoroughbred race horses.

"It is reasonable for the board to determine that the preparation by a horse owner of spurious bids — for submission to the board over a period of four years — is conduct which adversely affects on the character of the owner and may threaten the integrity of horse racing," the suspension was therefore proper," the high court said.

The Racing Board also originally demanded Ogden-Fairmount return $2.1 million to the Racetrack Improvement Fund, but has since conceded it had no authority to do so, the Supreme Court noted.

Man wounded by security guard

A Cahokia man is back home after being shot in the stomach by a security guard at the Stages night club south of Madison.

Paul D. Roper, 19, was released Jan. 1 from St. Louis University Medical Center. He was shot in the abdomen Dec. 24 by security guard Bruce Russell, 24, Belleville.

According to police reports, Russell was on patrol in the night club parking lot when he observed a man breaking a car window. The man was later identified as Alonzo Butler Jr., 19, Sauget.

Russell attempted to handcuff Butler, when Roper, described by Russell as a much bigger man than himself, allegedly approached him from behind and began wrestling with him.

Russell fired one hand, drew his .38 caliber revolver and fired one shot. He said he was not aiming at Roper.

Butler was uninjured in the incident. He was charged with criminal damage to property, a misdemeanor.

Two earn caps

Luke 18:38 "And he cried saying, Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me."

One of the outstanding miracles of the Bible — and it almost didn't happen! This man was blind and in a desperate situation. He had heard that Jesus could perform miracles, and when Jesus passed by, he cried out to Him for mercy. He needed a miracle. Then a strange thing happened. The people around the blind man began to rebuke him. They told him to keep quiet about his need! Thank God he didn't take their advice. He cried out all the more, and this time Jesus stopped and asked him to come forward. The man, responded and asked that he might receive his sight. Jesus simply said, "Thy faith hath saved thee." And he was healed.

When you have a need, don't hesitate to ask, or to knock. We have not because we ask not.

The Lord will have mercy on you. Today?

Crack down on vote fraud

Now that potential vote fraud has become an issue in the March 15 Democratic primary election campaign in the 21st Congressional District, a question that arises is whether victory ever can be achieved in fighting election abuses.

We think perfection is unattainable in the voting process, but that it could be more nearly approached if penalties were toughened and enforcement was tightened.

Over past decades, vote fraud took a variety of forms. One of the most obvious methods was to "help" a voter on the basis that he or she had poor eyesight or was unfamiliar with the English language. An election official or precinct politician then would enter the booth with the voter and make certain that the person "voted right" — supported the candidates that the party committee or committeeman favored.

Another old practice was to obtain a blank official ballot, which is illegal. A campaign worker would mark this ballot in the desired fashion and hand it to a voter waiting in line. Once inside the booth, the voter would pause momentarily, pocket the blank that had been handed out by the poll judge, and place the pre-marked ballot in the box. By handing the new blank to the worker outside the voting place, the voter would qualify for money or alcohol or whatever was being offered as his reward; this blank ballot then would be marked and given to the next voter in line.

Still another method was to have a "stacked deck" of polling place officials, with both the Democrats and Republicans loyal not to their own party but to whatever combination of candidates was endorsed by the committeeman. While ballots were being counted at the end of the day, a judge could have a bit of pencil lead underneath a finger and add inappropriate marks to a ballot that had been cast for one's opponents; these extra marks spoiled the ballot, which then could not be counted for the opposing candidates.

If all of this sounds crooked, it was. But that is what vote fraud is all about. There even were ways of cheating when leverequipped voting machines were in vogue; Life magazine once exposed vote fraud in one state with an article describing the "lever brothers" (not the soap company).

Punch-card voting systems in use today have speeded the election-tallies and supposedly made fraud more difficult, but we suspect cheating has not been eliminated. One fraudulent procedure is to scan voter records for names of people in graveyards who may be listed as having an address related to an actual home or to a boarded-up building or even a vacant lot.

A big enforcement problem is that if poll judges or watchers are not vigilant, and permit an invalid ballot to be cast, it is then too late to know which ballots were voted by proper or improper voters; all ballots are in the same box and are not identified by the voter's name.

Illinois Republican leaders who once dominated state offices worried about the Democratic votes, legal or otherwise, that might be cast here one election day. Their solution was to place a manned State Police car near every voting place in Madison and Venice, all day, in an effort to frighten away anyone who might be ineligible. As we recall, the turnout that day was low.

Forced low turnouts also were resorted to sometimes. If a precinct was known for delivering big vote totals for your enemy, the trick was to make sure there were delays, perhaps due to mechanical breakdowns in the voting process. If the waiting line at sunset wrapped around the block, many prospective voters would go home instead of voting.

All happened, and we don't recall many convictions, though a local voter was sentenced to a year of weekends in jail (he was a family man who needed to keep his job). His sin was to vote twice. Perhaps his motto was "Vote early and often."

Some of the episodes in the "good old days" are almost humorous, when looked back upon. But there is a serious aspect. Unless an electorate can get an honest count, it has no sure hold "on such ideals as democracy, freedom and fair play.

Oh-my-gosh, it's politics!

Oh, no. Not that. Not politics! It's getting so every politician lately is bending over backwards to say he's not a politician.

There is nothing wrong with admitting to being politically allied in partisan races, at least not in this country. You know, America? This country is built on the party system and it works quite well, thank you.

In the latest of a string of such comments, two precinct committeemen candidates, Danny Warfield and Jerry Lakin, say they are being "hurt" by people who want to attack Mac Warfield, who is the city's street superintendent, the Democratic Party's Central Committee chairman, the guy who lost in the 1985 four-way mayoral race to Mayor Von Dee Cruse, the guy some say may run again against Cruse for mayor, and who whipped Cruse when Cruse tried in 1986 to chair the party's central committee.

Mac Warfield doesn't seem to be the kind of guy who can be easily hurt. But even if Danny Warfield and Lakin are political targets, so what?

What politician isn't the target of another politician from inside or outside of his own party? If it's politics, it's politics and that's it.

Now, if it's dirty politics, that may be different. But "dirty" should be restricted to something outside the law. In the case of the precinct committeemen petition protests, the opposition might be characterized as "creative," but not dirty. Their opposition is based on the law and if no law is violated, it will be shown during the appeal process.

It may be hard for some to believe, but in partisan races, politician is not a four-letter word.

Opposes liquor in city buildings

To the editor:

According to the latest news stories about the police department it seems as though the mayor has another team player at the position of chief of police.

As a resident I follow closely the events that take place in this city. My hopes were high when a new police chief was appointed. I looked forward to a more professionally run department. As new events take place it seems like we are going to get more of the same.

By his own words Mayor Cruse said he does not think the law that prohibits drinking in city buildings should be enforced. I am of the opinion he is sworn to enforce all of the laws of this city.

If the mayor feels he has the authority to decide which law should and which law should not be enforced, I wonder if the chief of police is of the same opinion.

According to a story in the Journal

the city plans to bring police Sgt. James Reader before the board of Fire and Police Commission on a charge of violating sick leave. I don't recall any policemen being brought before the board for bar hopping in a city-owned vehicle, which was admitted to in court under oath. Well, perhaps Sgt. Reader is not a team player. Or is it that he is not on the right team?

It seems as though the mayor would rather put this city at risk to a lawsuit than to be perceived as a Scrooge. If taxpayers are called upon to pay a liability settlement incurred by the city, a lot of people will consider the mayor a Scrooge, and in my opinion a lot of us will be looking for a new team captain at election time.

I regret that I have to print my name because the way it looks to me it is not safe to criticize the team without fear of retaliation. As long as this mentality exists, no amount of shopping malls will save the city.

Reader disliked story on Jason

To the editor:

In the Sunday, Dec. 13, issue concerning the cost "reported by Norman Owea and Steve Balen" of the education of Jason Robertson, I say, so what?

How can these guys compare a lousy $36,000 for this little guy, who is up to bat, facing his third strike?

The breakfast served in Washington, D.C., cost taxpayers more than $36,000 to feed the Russians. How can these people compare money to a young person's education and maybe his life?

'Personality' criteria should change

To the editor:

In your Dec. 24 issue, you were looking for the Personality of the Year, without regard to whether the influence was negative, positive or indifferent.

I do believe you should change your program to read for positive only. Pick someone who has contributed something good for the community.

I know a person is innocent until proven guilty, but how in the most remote way could you possibly even bat, facing his third strike?

Some choices weren't too great, but you did pick one that was better than the rest.

Who should elect the county exec?

At present, the Madison County Board chairman is elected by the 29 county board members who are elected by the voters in each of 29 districts. A current petition drive, and possible subsequent countywide referendum, would allow the election of a county executive by all of the voters in the county. How do you think the head of the county should be selected?

Deonicio Arguelles, Granite City
"By the people, because the people should have the right to know who is going to be elected before they're put into office."

Tom Beck, Granite City
"Let the people decide. We should have a say so, not just the 29 county board members."

Eldon Hahn, Nameoki Township

Man hit, robbed on porch

A 67-year-old man was struck on the head and robbed on his front porch Jan. 3 hour after cashing his Social Security check.

Robert Wilson Smith, 1415 Madison Ave., was listed in good condition Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for a deep, 8-inch cut to his head. Mrs. Birdie Smith called Granite City paramedics to his house at 4:23 p.m. after she found her ex-husband lying in his bathtub, fully clothed, with blood to the back and top of his head.

Smith was bleeding severely when paramedics arrived. At the medical center, Smith told patrolmen he had cashed his $340 Social Security check about 9:30 a.m. at a grocery store and had gone to a tavern until about 3 p.m. before walking home.

As he reached the steps of his front porch, someone stuck him on the head with a hard object he was unable to identify. After he fell to the ground, the robber removed Smith's money from his shirt pocket. The robber did not say anything during the attack, Smith said.

Smith managed to get to his feet and make his way inside his house before he collapsed. No one had followed him home from the tavern, Smith said.

Head-on crash related to rain

Rain may have contributed to a head-on auto crash Sunday morning, Dec. 27, on Illinois 111 between South Roxana and Poag Road.

A northbound car driven by Allen Ludwig, 51, Edwardsville, collided with a car driven south by Tim Burden, 44, Anderson, Ind.

State police alleged Ludwig's car crossed into the southbound lane before colliding with Burden's car.

Burden was admitted to Wood River Township Hospital in satisfactory condition. He was extricated from his auto by Mitchell firemen, working under a blanket during heavy rain.

Q. In the past, I've written on the benefit of an Individual Retirement Account. I have just turned 35 and am ready to open an account. However, I have a question. Many forms of Individual Retirement Accounts exist, and are offered by many different institutions and businesses. Which is best?

A. It is true that an Individual Retirement Account, or IRA funds, may be invested in many different vehicles and are being offered by many different sources. However, one factor, we believe, should be paramount when considering where to open an IRA. Risk. We don't imagine you want to take too many risks with money you're putting away for your retirement, or the bottom line... investing in your future. Security is one of many good reasons to consider the IRA services offered by your local bank. Your investment in an IRA, through a bank, is insured by an agency of the federal government up to $100,000. In the long run, which is what you are investing in, an insured, secure IRA, is the better investment. At Central Bank you may also open a Self-Directed IRA. ## Two cars hit hog

A runaway hog caused a two-car accident and was killed at about 5:45 a.m. Monday on Illinois 3, near the West 20th Street intersection.

Steven W. Miller, 33, Alton, was going south on Illinois 3 when a hog ran onto the outside lane of the highway. Miller said he switched to the inside lane, but the hog continued in the path of the truck, which struck and killed the animal.

A second driver, Ronald D. Rose, 22, East Alton, was injured, but not hospitalized. After his car struck the dead hog, Rose then lost control of his automobile and struck the rear of Miller's pickup, which was stopped — with its lights flashing — on the highway.

The hog belonged to John Reed, Shipman, Ill., who said the animal had fallen off his truck as he drove toward East St. Louis area stockyards.

THE LAW AND YOU
 BY RICK REED
 Attorney At Law

Can a parent be held liable for the wrongful acts of his minor child which cause injury to another person? The general rule in Illinois is that parents are not liable for the wrongful acts of their minor child which cause injury merely because of the parent-child relationship. There are, however, certain exceptions to this general rule under a duty to exercise reasonable care to control his minor child if the parent knows of the necessity and the opportunity for exercising such control. In order to hold the parents liable for the child's acts the injured person will have to show specific instances or prior misconduct by the child sufficient to put the parents on notice that the acts complained of were likely to occur.

In one recent case, a father gave his 16-year-old son a 1974 Cadillac while the son was still living at home with the father. The family had a house guest residing with them who borrowed the son's car while he was intoxicated. The house guest drove the car in a manner so as to cause a head-on collision with another vehicle. This resulted in the deaths of three women in the other car. Eventually the father of the 16-year-old boy was named as a defendant in the lawsuit for his failure to prohibit the house guest from using his son's car.

The issue in this case is whether the father had a duty to control his son so that the son did not make his automobile available to the house guest. It was alleged that the house guest had used family vehicles before the accident while his license had been suspended and that the father was aware of this.

The trial court felt the father had no duty to control the actions of the house guest, who was not his son. The Appellate Court noted that there were no allegations of any actions by the son which allowed the house guest to obtain the use of the vehicle on prior occasions. The Court noted that it was not even clear that the guest had used the son's car on these prior occasions, the absence of these facts, the Court felt that the plaintiff had not demonstrated that the father knew of the necessity for exercising control over his son in making his car available to the house guest.

There probably are more (challenges) than usual. Could it possibly be because of our congressional race? I think that's exactly what it is," she said.

Laub said she believes that many precinct challenges are an expression of anger by some Madison County Democrats over the central committee's endorsement of St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello for Congress rather than Madison County Auditor Pete Fields. Both are running for the 21st Congressional District seat.

Laub said she thought the central committee should have supported Fields.

"It's time we got behind a local person," she said.

Of her employees running for committee, Laub said: "When they said they wanted to run, I told them it was strictly up to them. I didn't feel I had

Precincts Seats contested in city's precincts

Partney said Williams and another township assessor employee, Agnes Barumica, are running under a political alliance between Granite City Township Assessor Darlene Laub and Cruse.

"I disagree with that philosophy. We are elected to serve this community. I don't believe in power structures. I'm not a politician. I represent Darlene and only Darlene," Laub said, referring to her own elected position as assessor.

"There probably are more (challenges) than usual. Could it possibly be because of our congressional race? I think that's exactly what it is," she said.

Of her employees running for committee, Laub said: "When they said they wanted to run, I told them it was strictly up to them. I didn't feel I had the right to tell my employees they could not seek a political office."

Laub agreed with Laub that he thought interest in the precinct positions was a result of interest in the congressional race.

"The congressional race has a lot to do with it. If it's a political battle between me and him (Cruse), I don't know about it," Warfield said.

Cruse laughed at the idea of a power struggle.

"I'm not involved in any of those races," Cruse said Wednesday night. He lost his precinct post when he left the 11th Precinct.

"There are eight city employees, three District 9 school employees and six aldermen," Jeff Worthen, Lloyd Bailey, Partney, Judy Whitaker, Everett Morlen and Sharon Perjak, running for precinct slots. Perjak is being challenged by Worthen and Jim McRee. Perjak is in the 20th Precinct and Whitaker is being opposed in the 32nd Precinct by former School Board member Dewey Melton, who is Darlene Laub's brother.

Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen, a precinct incumbent, is being challenged in the 17th Precinct by Barbara Hodges.

Nellie Hagauer, Granite City Township supervisor and Madison County Board chairman, is unchallenged in the 28th Precinct.

Voters to decide tax hike

By John D. Milazzo Staff affiliate

Madison County voters will have the opportunity to decide in the March 15 primary whether they want an increase in the tax rate for the county's sheltered care and nursing homes.

The County Board, meeting in special session Wednesday, voted 18 to 4 to place the tax increase issue on the ballot.

The county now taxes at a rate of 2.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the two homes. If approved by voters, the proposed increase would double that rate to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields told board members that, under the higher rate, a homeowner with a house worth $30,000 would pay an additional $2.50 at tax bill time.

County officials have said the homes have generated a mounting deficit in recent years. Part of the deficit has resulted because of a gap between costs of operation and what the state Department of Public Aid reimburses the county.

Many of the residents in the homes are public aid recipients, administrators have said.

The two homes are operated out of a joint budget and much of the deficit has been created by the sheltered care home. The state pays only about half the $824 monthly charge for residents, administrator Donna Marrone said.

The nursing home gets substantially more in the state's formula, county officials have said.

County Director of Administration James K. Monday told board members Wednesday that without new revenues, officials are facing the prospect of closing the sheltered care home by June.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said the Wednesday special session was necessary in order to meet a statutory deadline for issues going on the primary ballot.

The referendum is the second tax increase for the facilities to be presented to voters in the last two years.

Voters in the 1986 general election defeated a $6.5 million bond issue that would have enabled the county to build a new, combined sheltered care and nursing home.

The board voted Wednesday to place the issue on the ballot.

Herbert "Junior" Millett, D-Granite City, told board members: "Regardless of what we do, we're not going to be getting out of the nursing home business."

"Under state statute, the county is responsible for caring for these people, one way or another."

The protest to Danny Warfield's petition was filed by his opponent, Wendy Kambarian, 2636 Edison Ave. Her protest stated the petition did not say what office he sought. Beverly Schutzenhofer, 2201 Delmar Ave., Lakin's opponent, challenged his petition because it did not certify signers did so less than 90 days before filing.

The Electoral Board consisted of county Clerk Evelyn Bowles, State's Attorney Dick Allen, and Assistant State's Attorney Bruce Goldstein, who filled in for Circuit Clerk Paul Partney.

Bowles said challenges to petitions in precinct races are unusual, and the only challenge in the county for the March 15 Democratic primary were against Danny Warfield and Lakin.

"We haven't had one for maybe five or six years," she said

Wednesday.

In a prepared statement, Danny Warfield said Wednesday, "I think that it is quite obvious that with over 200 other petitions for Democratic precinct committee members all over the county, that only two petitions that were challenged were mine and Jerry Lakin's, who also works at the street department (under Mac Warfield)."

"Since Mac has become street superintendent and county chairman, politics have been continually trying to embarrass him and his family. I don't think the voters in my precinct will tolerate this type of dirty politics and it will backfire on the people who masterminded this."

Kambarian said she was not reached for comment Wednesday evening.

Without elaborating on who might be behind the alleged plot, Mac Warfield said in a prepared statement Wednesday, "I'm sure that this was initiated by the same people who've always opposed me and the people in my organization. I am confident that the people in our community will not tolerate this type of politics come March 15."

Also in a prepared statement, Lakin said Wednesday, "We were singled out and this is just another attempt by a group of politicians who have always opposed Mac and the people in his organization. I'm sure all my friends in my precinct will be as mad as I am and work twice as hard to get me elected."

Schutzenhofer said Wednesday she is politically allied only with the United Steelworkers, for whom she works as a secretary.

"My response is he (Lakin) ran because he was politically motivated and he was pushed by a higher source. I think that's evident in who he works for."

If their appeals fail, the law allows Danny Warfield and Lakin to compete as write-ins.

Crossroads School is an independent college-preparatory school for students in grades 7 through 12. It is both a neighborhood school and a metropolitan institution. The school provides capable boys and girls with an academically traditional, yet richly experiential education. The uniqueness of Crossroads lies in its mission to carry out both of these goals in a cooperative atmosphere where there is unusual rapport among students and faculty.

The Crossroads curriculum has several components. Its academic emphasis is traditional and centers on mastery of key concepts and skills in humanities, sciences, mathematics, social sciences and foreign language. Class sizes are small at Crossroads, generally 12 to 18 students and academic requirements are stringent in keeping with Crossroads' mission as a college preparatory institution.

FEET FIRST

STEP SHOCK

by Dr. Claude Hiles

People who regularly exercise with aerobic dancing should take every precaution not to overdo it. Otherwise, they may be setting up their feet for some problems. For instance, stress fractures are the most common aerobic dance injuries. Stress fractures are slight cracks in the surface of the bones, occurring most frequently in the bones of the feet, legs, and hands. Most often, stress fractures are caused by overuse, either too much activity without adequate rest periods or doing too much too soon. Metatarsal stress fractures can also occur when there is a weakness in the muscles, making them inadequate shock absorbers. The overstressed bones then take the brunt of the "step shock."

In addition to hairline cracks, sports injuries may result in other types of fractures, such as simple and compound. Symptoms include localized pain that is made worse by movement, grating of bone ends, tenderness and swelling, and an inability to use the affected area. Contact a podiatrist for prompt diagnosis and treatment of foot injuries. My office is located at 1930 State St., performing in-office surgery and treating all general foot problems for the whole family. Sports injuries and other foot and leg disorders are also treated. Office hours by appointment. Tel. 877-6025. Dr. Hiles, John Hancock, Medicare, and Medicaid accepted.

Channel 2 completes overhaul of anchors

By William Scott Simon
Staff affiliate

After weeks of speculation and rumors, which included denials by KTVI-TV (Channel 2) management, the station has chosen Kevin Cokely and Stu Klitenic as its new evening news and sports anchors, respectively. The two will join recently hired news anchor Iola Johnson, and according to Channel 2 news personnel, the threesome is expected to become the new primary anchor team beginning Jan. 18.

What happens to current anchors Karen Gallagher and Lloyd Immel is uncertain. Both have contracts with Channel 2 until December 1988.

Channel 2 general manager Wayne Thomas and news director Sue Kawalerski were out of town for the holidays and unavailable for comment. Gallagher and Immel could not be reached for comment.

Cokely, 33, a graduate of the University of New Hampshire, has been the Washington bureau reporter the last two years for Gillette Broadcasting, which owns 11 stations, including KTVI-TV in Kirtland, Mo. Prior to that, he spent five years as an anchor and reporter for NBC-owned and operated KYC-TV in Cleveland.

Klitenic, 32, has been a sports anchor in Detroit for five years, the last two at ABC-owned and operated WXYZ-TV, working with Steve Garagiola, the son of NBC sportscaster Joe Garagiola.

Despite weather, much warmth here

"Baby, It's Cold Outside," as the song of a few years ago said. Arctic weather may have descended on Metro East, but there is a lot of warmth here, in the opinion of Eric Robertson, a lawyer, he lives in — and practices his profession in — Granite City.

The magazine St. Louis chose him as one of those its staff interviewed regarding the various communities within the bi-state metropolitan area. Eric, who as a teenager worked at the Press-Record, likes the diversity and positive attitudes of Granite City people, though conceding that this community does not appreciate itself as much as it should.

Every town has some faults, of course, but he rates Granite City highly and concludes by saying that he enjoys life here. I do, too.

The past year is being reviewed from many perspectives. An article listing major local news of 1987 appears elsewhere in today's Press-Record. The year-end summaries have mentioned the nuclear arms treaty, the Iran-Contra hearings, the rescue of little Jessica McClure from an abandoned well in Texas, presidential campaigning, the stock market crash.

Also, strife in Central America, scandals involving some television ministers, four Senate races, and other crises in Africa, floods, earthquakes, ship disasters, Middle East attacks, and other calamities. The year-end summaries have mentioned the nuclear arms treaty, the Iran-Contra hearings, the rescue of little Jessica McClure from an abandoned well in Texas, presidential campaigning, the stock market crash.

There is an old joke to the effect that "it isn't for bad luck, we've had no luck at all." Some evenings on the TV news, it seems as though "if it weren't for bad news, we'd have no news at all."

Readers of one of the Madison County newspapers, the Alton Telegraph, picked up an interesting story of 1987. Illinois Power

Regional Roundup
 By Bill Winter

Company rate increases, the St. Louis Cardinals' advance to baseball's World Series, highway sniper gunman that killed a man, the death of a boy struck by an auto driven by a man with a long record of drunk driving arrests and license revocations.

Plus, government action to revoke the license of Beverly Farms, a home for the retarded; completion of the Adams Parkway road expansion; indictment of two Alton officials on charges they took items obtained in the city's name; abuse of a child by an Alton police officer; the death of a child run over as a garbage truck backed up; a state requirement for an alarm on such vehicles went into effect after the tragedy.

And, restoration of state aid for Jason Robertson, 7, Granite City, and other hemophilia victims.

The St. Clair County Journal selected as the 10 biggest events of 1987.

School students with AIDS, train derailments, highway shootings, the end of the dioxin trial (opened the nation), the dismissal of the Belleville Area College chancellor, the baseball players' strike, the great war of Scott Air Force Base, landfill problems and the Vietnam veterans memorial replica's visit to Metro East.

Predictions for 1988 also are plentiful as Illinoisans prepare for their holiday celebrations. The Telegraph Springfield correspondent, however, offers forecasts that Democrats will nominate U.S. Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois for president, with Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee as his running mate. On the Republican side, he thinks the nominees will be Vice President George Bush for president and for vice president, Illinois Gov. James Thompson.

Some of his other predictions obviously are not serious, but he might well be right in visualizing an Illinois state income tax increase, from 2.5 percent now to 3 percent on individuals, and from 4 percent now to 4.8 percent on corporations.

Legislators report they are growing more funds for education, Medicaid and other state needs.

Taxes also are current topics in the Metro East area. Illinois' 1988 begins. Edwardsville aldermen have expanded the borders of a proposed downtown tax increment financing (TIF) district. And the East St. Louis City Council has voted to create a second East St. Louis TIF district.

TIF projects are among the innovations Illinois has embarked on as it attempts to cope with difficult economic trends.

Another innovation is a series of "growth corridors," some of them linked to state-financed Build Illinois public works improvements.

This week, high-technology corridors in Chicago's western suburbs were set aside to spark population and economic growth, with residents of a six-county area seeking to a total of 2.2 million by the year 2010.

Planners are saying that, although Illinois has not been facing as well as many southern and southwestern states, its "rust belt" doldrums can be overcome.

Southwestern Illinoisans have their own corridor programs and hope to share in that kind of progress in this century and the next.

Trojans show toughness in road win

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

BUNKER HILL — Rich Essington has just about seen it all in just two years at Madison High School.

Last year he inherited a team with good size and skill, but it was a team that seemed unwilling to pay the price at times. As a result, the talent was wasted in a .500 year that ended after one regional game.

Now he has a team short on size and experience. But there is plenty of athletic ability and plenty of something else. There is a lot of heart inside this gritty group of Trojans, and they showed what they are made of in coming back for a 68-60 win over the Bunker Hill Minutemen on Tuesday.

"I didn't think this group of kids would be tough enough," Essington said of an unheralded bunch that is suddenly 9-2. "But they are pretty tough now. We're 9-2, but how many close games have we won?"

The game figured to be a test and was. It's a long drive to Bunker Hill and it's a tough place to win. Coach Jim Hlaska has more than 500 wins in his career and the Minutemen have the same sort of team. They don't look like great players, but they give even the best team fits in their gym.

"Give lots of credit to Bunker Hill," Essington said. "They made us play hard at times and we got overconfident. I told them it would be tough here. I knew they were going to make a lot of baskets. They shot the ball extremely well."

The Minutemen held a slim lead through the first half and extended it to 46-37 in the third quarter. Center Eric Robinson was effective on jump shots from the side and Andy Agnew (20 points) was able to score underneath and in the air.

But the Trojans didn't panic. They got in foul trouble in the first half, but their pressure finally got to the Minutemen in the second half. Jessie Leonard's fourth three-pointer of the night pulled Madison to within 50-46, then Ian Smith and Clarence Williams scored before the quarter ended to cut Bunker Hill's lead to 52-50.

"We weren't patient on offense at times and their 1-3-1 defense hurt us on our three-pointers," Essington said. "But we still made five and that's 15 points on the board."

Actually, the scoreboard and clock weren't working, but the Trojans kept pounding in the fourth quarter. Leonard (17 points) converted a conventional three-point play to trim the Minutemen's lead to one, then Steve Sanders rebounded and scored Ian Smith's missed free throw to give the Trojans a 57-56 lead.

Smith then stole the ball cleanly from John Wieseman and went in for a layup to give Madison a 62-58 lead.

"I knew we were quick when the year started, but I didn't think it would lead to as many steals as we have had," Essington said.

Agnew made it a 63-60 game with a basket, and the Trojans finally put the game away after a three-point play by Smith in the final minute. Smith made one of two free throws. Sanders rebounded the miss, but Clarence Williams traveled. Quincy Williams stole the ball and fed

LADY WARRIORS — John Hutchings is not usually too finicky about Warrior wins. As long as they count as a W in the left column, Hutchings can normally accept any result that results in victory.

But there was something about Tuesday's game that made Hutchings of Madison on Tuesday that just didn't "set right" with the Warriors' record. It was a win, and a big one at that.

But its beauty was marred with imperfections that left the win looking like a homecoming Queen with one blue eye and one brown eye — at least from Hutchings' perspective.

"When people look at the score, they'll say, 'Wow!'. But there were still a lot of things we did wrong," Hutchings said. "We made some mental mistakes, we stood around too much and there were several times that we reacted too late. We did some things right, though."

Still, imperfect or otherwise, any Warrior sins Tuesday were cleansed by the final digits on the scoreboard.

The Warrior offense floundered early in the game only to find its groove in the second period. And by the time Granite City had capped a 21-6 second-period scoring spree to take a 38-17 lead into the locker room at halftime, the Trojanettes were still looking for the number of the truck that had steamrolled them.

"We were just overzealous tonight," said Trojan coach Gayle McRoberts, whose team dipped to 1-4 on the season with the loss. "We only have three experience girls on our team and they tend to get frustrated. Tonight, they were definitely Frustrated, and with good reason. The Trojanettes, with only seven players on their roster and none over 5-8, could only speculate as Jennifer Cavanaugh and Linda Trippe dismantled the Madison defense.

The dates are as follows: girls youth softball — Jan. 27 at 7 p.m.; youth baseball — Jan. 28 at 7 p.m.; men's softball — Feb. 4 at 7 p.m.; women's softball — Feb. 11 at 7 p.m.

Warriors

linville, where the Warriors were beaten in the first round by eventual champion Lincoln (78-56) and by Madison (63-57) in the consolation bracket.

"Kevin Sanders had some nice games," Deterding said. "If he could just catch all the passes that come his way, But I'm pleased with his performance. When he came here as a sophomore, he didn't know a thing about basketball and he has really improved."

After the game with West, the Warriors go north for another battle with scoring machine Andy Kaufmann and the Jacksonville Crimsons. They are rated 12th in the first statewide Class AA poll and are 12-1, with their only loss coming to No. 10 Lincoln in the Collinsville Tournament.

The Warriors gave the Crimsons a good battle (62-47) in the first game of the season on Thanksgiving Night in the Crimsons Classic, although Kaufmann had 38 points.

"We played our two best games of the year in the first two games," Deterding said of that one and an overtime win over East St. Louis. "We have regressed since then, but that happens. Even in our two wins since then I didn't think we were as good. But you start to lose some and you lose a little confidence."

NOTES: Belleville West also received some votes, as did Collinsville and Belleville Althoff, in the state poll.

Sam Tate

Sam Tate receives post-season honors at Sangamon State

Granite City native Sam Tate of Sangamon State University has been named to the All-Illinois and All-Midwest soccer teams.

Tate, a senior, was a key to the "Prairie Stars" dominating defense the past two years. He was a first-team choice on the NAIA All-Midwest team and a second-team choice on the All-Illinois team, which includes all schools in the state regardless of size, conference affiliation or association membership.

Sangamon State was the only college in the state with three players named to the team. Forwards Ezekiel Doe and Mark Moser were also named to the All-Illinois first team. They were also both first-team selections on the NAIA All-Midwest team.

The Prairie Stars took third place in the NAIA playoffs in November after winning the national championship in 1986.

too," said Hutchings, whose Warriors climbed to the .500 mark at 6-6 with the win. "But overall, we worked together better as a team and we scored a lot of points. Madison was gutsy, but when you're outmaneuvered, you're just outmaneuvered."

The only bright patch of the Trojannes' otherwise dim evening came in the third period, when Madison kept Granite City in check with a solid defensive effort and some sharpshooting from Katrina Garrett, Sharon Browley and Detra Blakley.

But the dam proved too leaky for the Trojannes to plug as the Warriors went on a 2-2 scoring spree late in the contest behind eight-points each from Cavanaugh and Priscilla Meyenburg.

And the Warriors will need to continue their point-scoring ways as they head into tonight's contest with Belleville Althoff. NOTES: Next Tuesday's home game with Alton has been designated Pack the Place Night by the Lady Warriors. Pack the Place is a promotion of the Illinois High School Association in which each member high school designates one home girls game and one home boys game in the month of January. The school then tries anything it can to "Pack the Place."

Dominos Pizza is co-sponsoring next Tuesday's game with Alton. With the price of admission, each spectator will receive a chance to win in five drawings at halftime for free pizzas from Domino's. In addition, everyone coming to the game will receive some sort of coupon from Domino's, such as for $1 off a pizza or the like.

The boys game with Collinsville on Feb. 5 will be Granite City's other Pack the Place night.
